Narayana College of Nursing, under the NSS unit, celebrated Breastfeeding Week from August 1st to August 7th, 2023. The theme for this year was "ENABLING BREASTFEEDING – MAKING A DIFFERENCE FOR WORKING PARENTS". The week-long celebration included various activities aimed at promoting the importance of breastfeeding.

Day 1: Inauguration and Awareness Program

On August 1st, 2023, the celebrations commenced at the Outpatient Department (OPD) of Pediatrics and Antenatal OPD in Narayana Medical College and Hospital, Nellore.

Dr.. B. Vanaja Kumari, Principal, Dr. Kumari. V (Vice Principal & HOD, Department of OBG), Mrs. Shanmugha Vadivu (HOD, Child Health Nursing), Mrs. S. Sucharitha (NSS Program Officer), NSS volunteers, and III-year students actively participated in the program. Students presented a PowerPoint session on the significance of breastfeeding, proper breastfeeding techniques, and recommended positions. Antenatal and postnatal mothers participated in the session. Refreshments were distributed to the attendees. In the afternoon, a similar session was conducted in the antenatal wards for antenatal and postnatal mothers from the OBG and pediatric departments.

Day 2: Essay Competition

An essay competition on the theme "Enabling Breastfeeding – Making a Difference for Working Parents" was organized for third-year students and NSS volunteers. The competition was evaluated by a panel including Dr. Kumari. V, Prof. B. Vanaja Kumari, Mrs. Shanmugha Vadivu, and Mrs. Pallavi Naik.

Day 3: Elocution Competition

On the third day, an elocution competition was conducted on the importance of breastfeeding. Students delivered insightful speeches highlighting the benefits and challenges of breastfeeding for working mothers. The competition was judged by faculty members, and students enthusiastically participated.

Day 4: Painting Competition

A painting competition was organized based on the theme. Students from all years and NSS volunteers showcased their creativity to depict the significance of breastfeeding in promoting infant health. The paintings were evaluated by the faculty panel.
